By Christine V. Esguerra

PRESIDENT MACAPAGAL-ARROYO yesterday defended the presence of US troops in Mindanao, saying they were helping the Armed Forces of the Philippines "in so many ways" without participating in direct combat.

"While American cancer fight on the ground, they've been helping us in so many ways," he Arroyo said in a speech during the Filipino World War II Veterans Assembly at Camp Aguinaldo in Quezon City.

Mancao accuses Estrada of lying

By Tina G. Santos and Jonnelyn L. Andrade

DEPOSED PRESIDENT Joseph Estrada, Sen. Panfilo Lacson and former Supt. Michael Ray Aquino were yesterday named in court by former Senior Supt. Cesar Mancao as among those behind "Operation Delta," the purported plan to kill publicist Salvador "Bobby" Dacer.

Mancao also named the late Supt. Teodoro Alas, former Supt. Glenn Dumlao, and former Chief Insp. Vicente Aranda as directly involved in the operation, according to Mancao's lawsuit filed in Manila's Regional Trial Court.

The former police officials were members of the now defunct Presidential Anti-Organized Crime Task Force (PACOTF), which Lacson once headed and of which Mancao was a ranking officer.

Mancao cited today his direct testimony "I signed and co-

MANILA—YESTERDAY condemned the killing of a witness in the November 2000 murders of Salvador Dacer and his driver Benjamín Cordero, saying it was the latest in "a series of crime waves that has already claimed the lives of so many alleged conspirators" in the case.

Undersecretary Anthony Golez told reporters at a briefing that President Macapagal-Arroyo was ordering the Philippine National Police to "investigate" under the Wednesday killing of witness Jimmy Lopez and to determine whether it was related to the Dacer-Cordero case.

"It's probable because it's a self-orchestrated case," Golez said when asked if Lopez's killing was connected to the twin murders. "But of course we have to check other angles regarding this."

Lopez, one of the new witnesses presented by Dacer's daughters in their complaint against Sen. Panfilo Lacson, was shot dead in his rented house in Gen. A province south of Manila, early on Wednesday.

He was to have testified yesterday.

Ruling party faces threats of desertion

By Leila B. Salasman

THE ADMINISTRATION'S LAKAS-Kampi-CMD party better keep its promise of choosing a standard-bearer this month, as some members are considering transferring to other groups if its push remains unclear, according to two party executives.

"Well, the party still plays an important role but we're not sure of it. They have to make a decision sooner or later because we have to make our own decisions also," Tambolan Rep. Ma. Milagros "Maki" Magpantay said.

Magpantay said the party should decide on its presidential and vice presidential candidates and its senatorial slate for the May 2010 elections, so that she and other members could begin promoting them to boost their ratings.

OPPOSITION UNITY

Panlilio, Padaca to back Aquino bid

THE OPPOSITION WAS IN A fix yesterday.

Two reform-minded presidential aspirants—Governor Ed Panlilio of Pangasinan and Grace Padaca of Iloilo—were decided to withdraw from the May election and support Sen. Benigno "Noy" Aquino II, the incumbent senatorial presidential bid.

They are scheduled to announce today their decision "for the sake of unity" after Sen. Mar Roxas, the Liberal Party presidential candidate, decided on Tuesday to step aside in favor of Aquino, who has gone on a spiritual retreat to seek "divine guidance" and ponder his next move.

But evangelist Eddie Villanueva, leader of the Jesus is Lord Movement and the political party Benigno Pilgrimage, said in a statement yesterday that he was pursuing his presidential plans.

"The only way to achieve Benigno Pilgrimage's vision of a new Philippines and platform of righteous governance is to stay in the race," said Villanueva, who was nominated his party's standard-bearer on Aug. 21.

"It's bigger and more crucial question confronting the nation... is whether we are willing to change, to go back to God's values," said Villanueva, who is making his second bid for the highest post in the land.

The Nationalista Party has likewise announced that its standard-bearer, Sen. Alan Peter Geronimo, will also stay in the race.

President declares period of national prayer

MACAPAGAL-ARROYO: Reported successor of his father Ko Ely as leader of the Iglesia ni Cristo.

PRESIDENT MACAPAGAL-ARROYO has issued a proclamation declaring a period of national prayer for Iglesia ni Cristo (INC) leader Ely "Ko Ely" Manalo, who died Monday at age 84.

Ms. Arroyo ordered to the INC General Temple in Quezon City to pay her last respects to the late INC executive minister after arriving from Tokyo at around 9 p.m. Wednesday.

She consoled with Manalo's son and successor Eduardo Manalo, Malabon, said.

While at the General Temple, Ms. Arroyo issued Proclamation No. 1874 declaring a period of national prayer.

MEMBERS of the Iglesia ni Cristo flock to the main church in Quezon City where the body of their leader lies on Sept. 3, 2009. Manalo passed away early this week due to cardiac arrest at the age of 84.

Palace brands Noyonoy retreat as 'gimmicky'

By Christine V. Esguerra

MANILA—THE SENATORIAL PO. brand "Noyonoy" in Sen. Benigno "Noy" Aquino III's so-called spiritual retreat before he decides on whether to run for president next year.

Gary Olive, deputy presidential spokesperson, yesterday said the senator should "not just ride on sentimental waves" in heading the supposed claimant for him to seek the highest of offices in the land.

"We suspect whatever gimmicky, whatever way or how he can arrive at a decision," Olive said.

Golez, another spokesperson, said in a media briefing.

Golez was commenting on impressions that Aquino might only be playing hard-to-get before eventually announcing his decision.

Delgado heirs appeal SC ruling on Gonzalez

By Dana P. Ramirez

THE FAMILY OF BLAN BURGOSMAN FELIX Delgado has appealed a Supreme Court decision dismissing the murder case against Delgado's stepbrother, Isidro Gonzalez, a provision of the late President Marcos' 1973 and re-instated of 1987 Constitution.

In a move filed with the high court last Friday, Delgado heirs asked for a reconsideration of the court's Aug. 7, 2000, ruling upholding a Court of Appeals decision convicting Gonzalez and his driver, Antonio Bonifacio, of involvement in Delgado's murder.

The Supreme Court ruled that Delgado heirs had no legal standing to file the petition for review against the Court of Appeals' decision because only the Solicitor General may represent the state in the appeal of a criminal case while private complainants may appeal only the civil aspect of the case.

The Delgado heirs said they were first denied their petition when the acting city prosecutor of Manila ruled that there was no sufficient evidence that Gonzalez and Bonifacio were the ones who ambushed Delgado to death and entered his apartment, Amulosa Drive, at his residence in the Mayflower Building in Manila, Manila, on March 11, 2000.

Following an appeal by the Delgado heirs, the Department of Justice's city prosecutor's ruling was overturned by the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court.

The Delgado heirs said they were denied their petition for the second time when the Court of Appeals dismissed their petition and requested Gonzalez without a full hearing trial.

They said their new denial of their petition when the appellate court ordered the dismissal of their charges filed in court and granted the writ was tantamount to a denial of their petition.

On its merits

The high court pointed out that the failure of Solicitor General Agnes Devanadera, who is also acting justice secretary, to appeal the appellate court's ruling denies a chance to the government's case.

Represented by lawyer Eddelburg, the Delgado heirs asked the high court to allow the case against Gonzalez to be tried on its merits and not be dismissed because of procedural technicalities.

They insisted that the case falls under an exception, stating that appellate compliance is a criminal case since the petition directly with the court "where there is a denial of due process to the prosecution and the state or its agent refuse to set on the case to the prejudice of the private offended party."

Group protests freeze in maids' wages in HK

By Jessica Hsing

AN ORGANIZATION OF ASIAN MIGRANT labor organizations yesterday denounced a Hong Kong government decision to freeze foreign domestic workers' monthly wages to the current HK$3,500 (about P12,500) level.

The Hong Kong-based Asian Migrants Coordinating Body, which includes many anti-Political workers' groups, described the freezing of the minimum allowable wage (MAW) as a blow to domestic helpers and their families suffering from the hard economic times back home.

"Wage freeze is definitely not what foreign domestic workers in this time of crisis. Considering the impact of the economic crisis on us and on our families, who can survive with a wage level that is even way below that of a domestic help," ACMC spokeswoman Ed Lantini said in a statement from Hong Kong.

Lantini said that since the "historic" HK$3,000 wage rise in 2003, foreign maids have been demanding for a significant wage increase.

Please us nothing

After we cut out in 2003 has not been fully recovered since the Hong Kong government has only increased the monthly wage by HK$200, equivalent to just 6 percent in 2006.

"Others, they give us a very pleasant time. But with the wage freeze, they totally abandon any promise of promoting what is right and just for foreign domestic workers," she insisted.

With the wage freeze, she said a directive freezing the minimum allowable wage for foreign domestic workers at HK$3,500 (about P12,500).

But the ACMC said the amount, though "very modest" and a welcome improvement for those working such as cleaners, was still not enough for the much-needed food needs.

"The amount only equates to about HK$100 (P375) per day, barely enough to buy a value meal at McDonald's (about HK$100) and a taxi ride with another person," Lantini said.

She noted that the food allowance was not part of the wage that foreign maids received in Hong Kong.

"Now the Hong Kong government has decided that the majority of employers provide food for their foreign maids because they are 'live-in' employees. If the government thinks that we will be opposing the government's decision, we will decide to keep the current wage level, they are badly mistaken," she said.

Lantini said the ACMC and its affiliate anti-political groups would stage a protest on Sunday to demonstrate the wage freeze situation.

She said that ACMC would continue to lobby for the inclusion of foreign domestic workers in the statutory minimum wage (SMW) coverage in time for the opening of the Hong Kong Legislative Council next month.

"The statutory wage and minimum wage law of the labor is the very reason why we were so far from the IMF. The HK government is again violating all their obligations to the labor in their decision after a deliberation process that only takes time," Lantini said.

She said there was something fundamentally wrong with the MAW policy and it was wrong.

"With the MAW (foreign domestic) will be given more opportunity to lobby for our wages, the time has come for the Hong Kong government," Lantini said.

Mar defends Korina, decries 'foul' characterization: I love her

SEN. MARCEL "MAM" ROSARIO yesterday took exception to a column story in the business which, referred to his fiancée, ABS-CBN broadcaster Korina Sanchez, as the latest "McPhloga."

The story, which was based on the criticism of Sanchez's perceived demeanor, including being columnist Domingo de Ocampo.

In a text message, Rosario said, "You cannot write such disinformation about Korina in today's issue. I disagree with [the] online portrayal of Korina and [the] use of condescending interpretation of her words."

"Korina is a loving, brave, intelligent person. I love her and stand by her," Rosario added.

The business story appeared the other day after Sanchez pulled out from the presidential race, saying he was understanding Sen. Rodrigo Duterte's bid to run for president.

The story was accompanied by a column of the business columnist Carlos Lopez in the bulletin "McPhloga" put up by ABS-CBN. It was the first time that the name of McPhloga was used.

McPhloga said he portrayed Rosario as "McPhloga" for his refusal to run because he was not serious in checking out of politics.

In the story, Rosario criticized Duterte for supposedly describing presidential aspirant Rodrigo Duterte as "McPhloga" in "Bunga for power."

Sanchez said the columnist was wrong in saying "the bulletin is wrong (deliberately) like this."

She also took a shot at Sen. Fernandez. "Korina" supporters, she had called on Rosario to give up in August.

Crusade vs infomercials

THE CAMPAIGN OF HIS HONORABLE LEADER Ka Erdy Manalo to put a stop to "infomercials" involving Cabinet members and local government executives is laudable. Angeleno Spina, top honcho of the government's Technical Education and Skills Development Authority (Tesda), has agreed to step down his TV commercial with local executives.

Looking like a reluctant suspect crying every now and then, I said no laughs at Manalo's antics, but now I see they have their use. Will the other officials react positively or will they rather defend the indefensible?

But I wish Manalo will not be soopic and not only the wrongdoing of the Cabinet and local officials, how about the infomercials of his fellow leaders? If he would direct his Message of Peace, Peace City or Lika, Balamang, World's Government of Nations program toward the faces of Sen. Richard Gordon and a potential governor, this poster campaign has been around longer than the catfish and TV infomercials, with pain for this—the OIC, Philippine Teachers' Association or United Pure Philippines? The man does average more than half of the points, and in the 1980s, when that is left in the name of the province and "NGO" Philippines. How much is being spent on these posters? This is the most informed use of resources I have seen. I am sure Gordon will not be just leading his name and face in the western department's promotion campaign, but as our Vice President Noli de Castro, Education Secretary Josh Laya, Spina and others.

Cops nab 2 Chinese 'scientists of drug makers' in Sta. Rosa

STA. ROSA CITY—Two Chinese nationals described by police as "inventors of drug manufacturing" were arrested at an early morning raid on a illegal drug laboratory in a subdivision here yesterday.

Members of the Philippine National Police Anti-Drug Task Force Special Operations Unit, known as AEDTTF, commenced the raid to serve an arrest warrant issued by a Manila court.

Senior Supt. Francisco Uyand, AEDTTF deputy chief, identified the arrested Chinese as Long Di Peng, 40, and Guo Chaochao, 36.

They were arrested inside a two floor apartment in Hills Segura Estate in Barangay Dalaga around 8 a.m.

Uyand said the two Chinese have been renting the apartment since August but have been moving from one place to another.

"We caught them in the act of cooking (drugs)," Uyand said. Police found in the apartment a hydroponic, instant and chemicals used to produce shabu (methamphetamine hydrochloride) in the so-called "kitchen-type laboratory."

Uyand said the equipment could produce at least 12 kilograms of shabu daily, with a street value of P7,212 million.

"They are considered the architects of drug manufacturing," Uyand said of the two suspects.

The police conducted the raid to serve an arrest warrant issued by the Manila Regional Trial Court Branch 26.

A certain Ylano Chu and two others included in the warrant were not present at the scene.

Some of the crime operatives are still conducting an inventory of the seized chemical drugs and equipment.

"We are still investigating which group they (the arrested) belong to," Uyand said.

He said the suspects would be brought to the SUBSIC of the Anti-Corruption Center.

The government has stepped up its campaign against illegal drugs. With law 9,000, the government has stepped up its campaign against illegal drugs.

Nationwide Medical, Dental, Feeding and Information-Based Mission

100% in one day

The Nationwide Small Towns Medical and Feeding Mission

Two million patients.
100,000 volunteers.
2,000 medical mission sites.

On September 8, 2008, a Sunday, more than 100,000 doctors, dentists, nurses, pharmacists, health workers, medical professionals and concerned Filipino citizens from the government and private sector leave the comforts of their home to perform the biggest act of charity in the country, so far.

These Good Samaritans, in a massive display of collective volunteerism, offer their services for free as partners of the Philippine Charity Sweepstakes Office (PCSO) in providing medical and dental services to more than two million Filipinos—all in a single day.

Dubbed as the "100 Percent in One Day" project, the PCSO's nationwide medical, dental and information-based mission aims to cover all of the country's 41,995 barangays.

"This is a list of its kind project in the Philippines that provides fast access to medical and charity care from PCSO and its partners to poor Filipinos all over the country in one day," explains PCSO General Manager and Vice Chair Rosario Urtaza.

The project is envisioned to be both a celebration of the 75th Anniversary of PCSO, and a window for marginalized Filipinos from all over the country to access medical care and organized charity assistance.

For the medical and dental missions, the PCSO expects to cover 35,197 barangays in Luzon, Visayas and Mindanao, representing 60 percent of the total number of barangays in the country.

There are more than 2,000 medical mission sites to be set up all over the country on September 8, each site capable of providing service to 1,000 to 1,500 patients.

A medical mission site is manned by four doctors, two dentists, four nurses and one pharmacist. These health professionals are assisted by 20 to 40 volunteers who are in charge of physical set-up and crowd control.

Aside from general checkups and minor surgeries, eye examinations, bone scan and ear check room will be available in selected medical mission sites located in government hospitals and rural clinics.

Medicines to be distributed free to patients at the sites include amoxicillin drops, capsules and suspension; metoprolol tablets; nifedipine acid; paracetamol drops and tablets; and ascorbic drops, tablets and syrup.

"PCSO has been doing monthly medical and dental missions for several years now," says Urtaza. "But this is the first time we'll hold it in large scale in one day, targeting more than two million patients."

In Metro Manila alone, more than 150,000 beneficiaries are expected to avail of free medical and dental services offered in some 100 mission sites spread throughout the National Capital Region.

The medical sites in Metro Manila are manned by volunteers from the seven Catholic dioceses affiliated with Caritas, which mobilized by leaders and church workers to assist the health professionals in the medical mission sites.

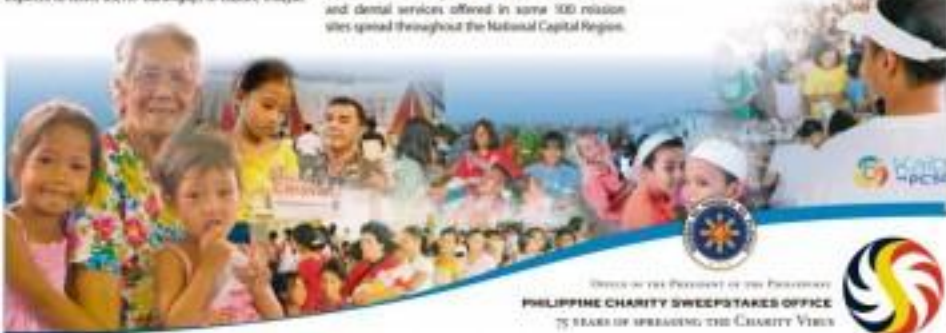

The information-based mission, on the other hand, is expected to cover 100 percent of the 41,995 barangays.

Under this component, barangay health workers and residents are encouraged to send to the PCSO through Short Messaging System (SMS) text message the name and profile of a patient in their community who intends to seek financial assistance from the charity agency.

This would allow the PCSO to maintain a database of prospective beneficiaries whose cases would have to be evaluated to determine who may qualify for the medical assistance.

The feeding mission would be conducted in selected barangays, mostly in depressed areas, in coordination with church-based groups and civic organizations.

The "One Hundred Percent in One Day" project, according to Urtaza, is envisioned to be an annual activity that will serve as a vehicle for spreading the "charity virus," and make organized and systematic sharing coupled with volunteerism as a way of life for Filipinos.

Docs' group suspends Hayden Kho

By Alison W. Lopez

THE PHILIPPINE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION (PMA) has suspended Dr. Hayden Kho Jr. for a year for "conduct offensive to the profession," his lawyer, Larra Kapurana, told the inquirer yesterday.

In an interview during the launching of White Ribbon Day—a campaign launched by the United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNFPA) to prevent violence against women—Kapurana said she and Kho learned about the group's decision on Wednesday.

"We were called to a meeting on Sept. 2 by the PMA ethics committee to inform us of their decision to suspend any client's membership for one year," she later elaborated in a text message to the inquirer.

Kapurana added, "My client respects the decision."

She was asked by Kho how she felt who said he would not contest PMA's decision.

"I respect their decision... I'm happy with whatever is given to me. I'm already ready for anything," he said.

He was with Kapurana at the launching of the White Ribbon Day campaign. He

46 dead, dozens missing in Indon quake

CIKANGKARANG, INDONESIA—RESCUERS DUG through rocks and debris with their bare hands on Thursday in search of dozens of villagers believed buried in a landslide triggered by a strong Indonesian earthquake that killed at least 46 people and damaged thousands of buildings.

At least 130 people were hospitalized with injuries from the 7.8-magnitude quake just off the coast of densely populated Java island, Disaster Management Agency spokesperson Wiyadi Kadarwati said, adding that 80 were in critical condition.

The earthquake on Wednesday afternoon caused destruction across Siliwangi town province, where more than 10,000 houses and offices were listed as damaged, around 10,000 of them seriously in Java's 5,600 people were listed as completely destroyed.

Some rural areas could not be reached by helicopters and there may be more victims and missing, officials said.

Many of the deaths and injuries were caused by falling debris or collapsed walls and roofs.

In the village of Cikangkaring in Garut district, a landslide caused a row of houses under construction and mud. At least 39 bodies were recovered, and villagers were searching for dozens of people believed missing, Nuzair said.

"Everything is gone, my wife, my old father-in-law and my house... now I just hope to find the bodies of my family," farmer Ahmad Ridwan, 34, said as he pointed at giant stones with a crescent.

Heavy digging equipment had not reached the remote village, which President Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono was to visit later Thursday. Police, military personnel and villagers are still there.

Mekarna Sentera, a disaster administrator, said 11 houses and a mosque were buried by the landslide and estimated that more than 50 people were trapped and feared dead.

"The chance of survival is so slim... but we have to find them," Sentera said.

The prolonged sliding from the quake was felt hundreds of kilometers away in the neighboring town of Sukabumi.

In the capital, Jakarta, 170 km north, thousands of panicked of the workers flooded out of many skyscrapers onto the streets, many of them screaming.

The Disaster Management Agency said at least 46 people were confirmed dead.

Dede Kartasari said her 9-year-old son, who was playing at a friend's house when the earthquake struck, was "buried under the roof."

"I lost my son... now I just want to see his body. I want to bury my loved son properly," she said, weeping. AP

Gunmen kill 17 at drug rehab in Mexico

CHIHUAHUA, MEXICO—Gunmen killed 17 men during a rebellion in a prison and shot 17 people during a riot in Mexico's border city, an official said.

The attacks on Wednesday broke down the door of El Alamo prison in Ciudad Juarez, based up their victims against a wall and opened fire, said Amos Hernandez, a spokeswoman for the regional prosecutor's office. At least five people were injured.

Authorities had no intention to arrest or interrogate the inmates. Ciudad Juarez, across the border from El Paso, Texas, is Mexico's most violent city with at least 1,000 people killed by gun alone. Most of the fatalities are drug-related gang violence.

Charges of mobbing, robbery, murder and other crimes against the inmates were filed against the dead. Authorities and federal agents searched the streets surrounding the center in the border town neighborhood.

President Felipe Calderon sent thousands more troops and federal police to Ciudad Juarez earlier this year, but the surge has done little to curb the rising violence. The city is home to the Juarez drug cartel, which is battling other gangs for trafficking and drug sales.

The government is struggling to control Ciudad Juarez's police force, which is plagued by corruption and the dominance of many of its officers. Other police have quit the force out of fear of being targeted.

The massacre erupted in a particularly bloody day in Mexico's relentless drug war. Dozens killed the No. 2 security official and three other people in Culiacan's home area of Michoacan, where the government is locked in an increasingly bitter battle with the ruthless La Familia cartel, blamed for a string of assassinations of police and soldiers. AP

José—Fly Reporter

A new serial story to promote literacy

To usher in International Literacy Day (Sept. 8), Inquirer in Education (IE) will serialize a new story titled José—Fly Reporter every Monday from Sept. 7 to Oct. 30, 2009 in the Learning section.

José—Fly Reporter, written by Cathy Sewell, illustrated by Blaise Sewell and courtesy of World Association of Newspapers (WAN-IFRA), will take readers on an eight-part adventure where a group of insects hears about a threat to their city park and decides to create a newspaper to spread the word.

Each of the eight chapters comes with activities that parents and teachers may use with young readers to develop reading and writing skills as well as critical thinking. The story also invites children to learn more about the lives of insects and their threatened habitats.

For this new series, Bench is donating copies of the Inquirer for use by partner teachers in their classrooms at 16 grade schools:

Balanga Integrated School, Batasan Hills Elementary School, Bayanan Elementary School, Bonifacio Elementary School, Fairview Elementary School, Isaac Lopez Integrated School, Jose Magsaysay Elementary School, Kostka School of QC, Markina Elementary School, Nellie E. Brown Elementary School, Nemesio I. Yabut Elementary School, New Cabalan Elementary School, Pinaglabanan Elementary School, St. Alphonsus Liguori Integrated School, Sts. Domingo Elementary School, and Tulay Sa Don Bosco.

José—Fly Reporter is the third story in the IE Serial Reading program to be sponsored by Bench.

Companies, groups and individuals interested to support this school advocacy may donate newspapers for the duration of the series. Please call PDI Corporate Affairs, Mundi Ocampo at 887-8806 loc. 259.

WHEN TESTING A FOUNDATION shade on my skin, it shows the pale yellow shade to light-skinned as I may be, but both yellow tones always have a yellow tint. The last time though, I was surprised when the sales agent told me, "This is the shade you need."

I have come to the conclusion that the shade of my foundation did not match. They then told me, "This is the shade you need." The last time though, I was surprised when the sales agent told me, "This is the shade you need."

For men going bald – this is the answer: NEW Revage Laser Hair Recovery of hair. This can lead to bald patches and miniaturization or thinning of hair. Get the right treatment as soon as you notice signs of hair loss.

Hair loss stops, hair grows thicker, healthier. Swenson, the leading scalp and hair loss center in the Philippines, introduces another breakthrough effective treatment: Revage Laser Hair Recovery.

As soon as you notice signs of hair loss, "LILT" used by Revage Laser Hair Recovery is the only technology that has been proven effective to stimulate hair production through bio-stimulation and revascularization. Bio-stimulation is the enhancement of the body to make hair grow more while revascularization is the formation of new blood vessels to feed the hair and induce hair follicles for more hair production," Dr. Melamed says.

Other products or remedies only open up blood vessels to improve blood flow but not to form new ones. Once you stop using them, hair starts to fall or this out in 3-6 months. So you're back to your old problem.

Revage Laser Hair Recovery is FDA approved. It shows an 87% success rate in stopping hair loss progression and can give a 38% or more increase in hair volume. It works by using Low-Level Laser Therapy (LLLT) to stop and reverse hair loss, stimulate growth and increase more hair volume. For falling and thinning hair – it's the perfect solution.

Good and bad news about Laranas' 'The Echo'

LOS ANGELES—FOR THE GOOD NEWS: Lorna Laranas' "The Echo," the 23rd episode of "Eggs," will finally be shown in movie theaters in the Philippines on Sept. 23.

The bad news: "The Echo" is not going to get a North American theatrical release. The movie is a comedy-drama about a girl named "The Echo" who is a clone of a famous actress. The movie is a comedy-drama about a girl named "The Echo" who is a clone of a famous actress.

This is a completely disheartening development. It was unprecedented that Lorna was given the opportunity to show her American version of her movie "Eggs" in movie theaters in the Philippines. The movie is a comedy-drama about a girl named "The Echo" who is a clone of a famous actress.

For, we think many Filipinos will still want to experience "The Echo" on the big screen. In an e-mail interview, Napales said: "The experience of seeing it on the big screen is totally different from seeing it on TV. Although the movie of the film can be appreciated in any version, watching the movie on the big screen is a different experience."

As for what's in store for moviegoers, especially those who are not "Eggs" fans, Napales said: "I think they will enjoy this movie because it is much more than the original. The face of the original will also see that the original story line is more. The movie and persona though is highlighted in 'The Echo'."
